About Us

Fine Italian Ice Cream Since 1882

Our ice cream journey began in 1882, when Bortolo Belfi left Italy for Germany with the dream of making authentic Italian gelato for the world. What started with just 5 liters a day and one flavor—vanilla—quickly grew into a family tradition of passion, craft, and innovation. His son, Giovanni, carried the legacy further, establishing ice cream shops in the Netherlands during the 1940's, where the Belfi family name became synonymous with quality and joy.

In 1966, Dino Belfi expanded La Veneziana in the Netherlands, delivering ice cream across towns with the same family recipes that had been perfected for generations. His dedication to tradition ensured that each scoop carried the same magic that Bortolo started nearly a century before.

A new chapter began in 1994, when Miguel and Constance Belfi brought the family legacy to South Africa. They founded La Veneziana in Magaliesburg, later building a dedicated factory in 1999. Their vision introduced true Italian ice cream to South African taste buds, crafted with authentic ingredients and unwavering care.

In 2020, the next generation continued the journey as Luca Belfi launched Bambini Ice Cream. "Bambini," meaning children in Italian, symbolizes both heritage and future—celebrating family, tradition, and the joy ice cream brings to every occasion. Today, Bambini Ice Cream proudly produces fine desserts and artisan ice cream for thousands of South Africans, staying true to the craftsmanship that began over 140 years ago.
